Building Our Future

As these eighth graders enter Prince Edward Academy, they begin the actual development of their future. They realize that the constructural building of our school was only the first step toward the building of a successful future. The remaining steps are in the hands of every individual associated with the Academy.

These pages of the 1962 CAVALIER attempt to illustrate the means by which the future of Prince Edward Academy and its students is being built.

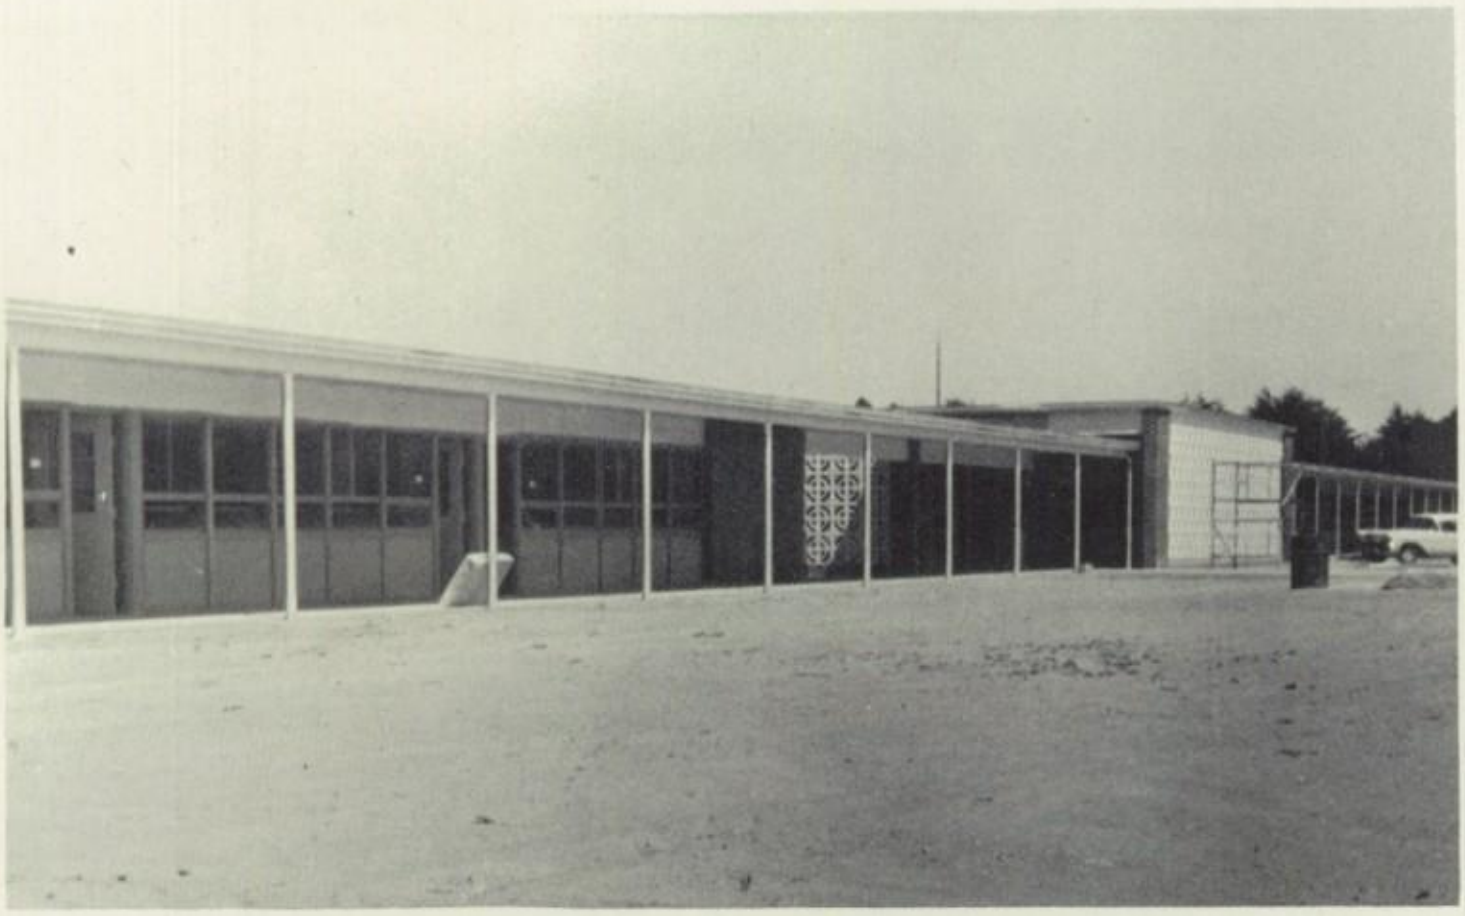
Students of
PRINCE EDWARD ACADEMY
Farmville, Virginia

With the construction



Through long hours of work by many, Prince Edward Academy was built to adequately serve students throughout the coming years.

Workers put in cabinets in preparation for our modern, efficient Home-Economics department.

Volunteer window-washers give the Academy a few final finishing touches.

of our school . . .

This typical attractive class room will certainly be an enjoyable place for study.

An empty library awaits the placement of its final equipment.

Having received all its equipment and generous donations of books, our fine library aids many students.

. . . our future began

Opening day

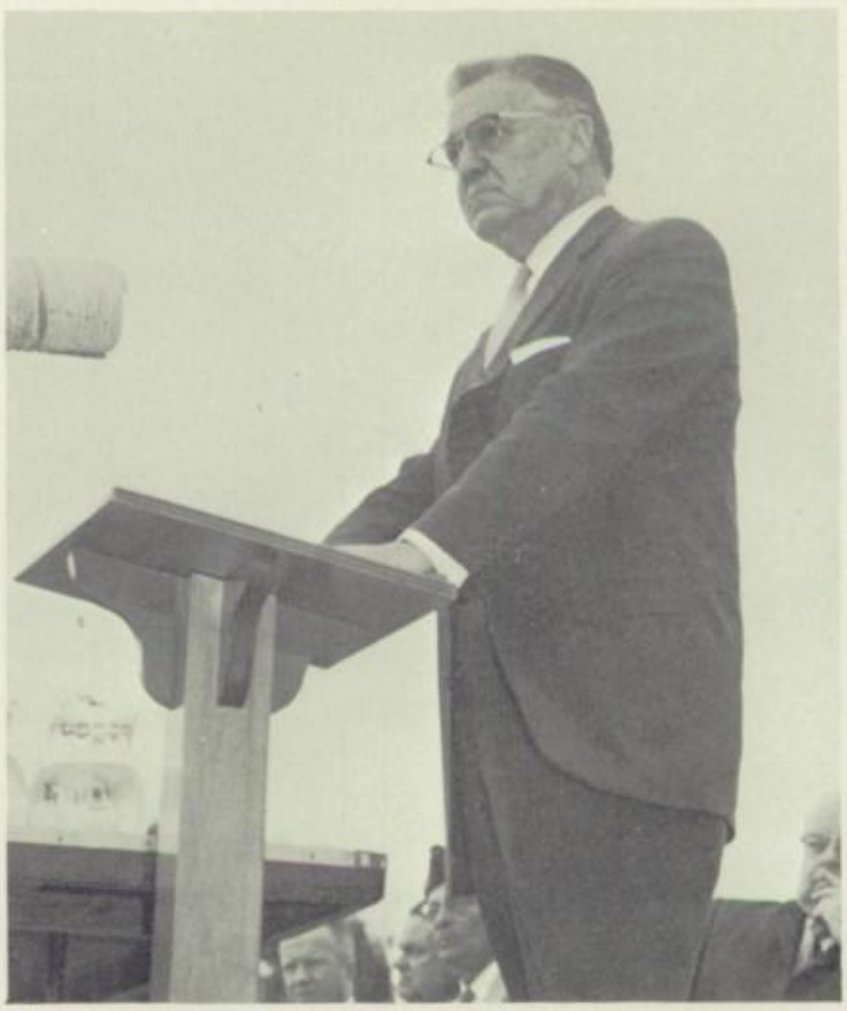
Headmaster Gilmer addresses the student body of Prince Edward Academy on this first day of the 1961-62 school year.

Mrs. Dahl gives her home room their daily schedules.

Finding the way about the various walk-ways was definitely a new and confusing experience for many students.

A large crowd assembles for the dedication of our school, the realization of a dream that certainly came true.

National Guard men raise the flag given by the American Legion at the dedication ceremony.



T. Coleman Andrews was the main speaker of the afternoon.

Dedication of our school

Familiar

Mr. Gilmer begins each day with the regular routine of signing excuses.

Max Ward pays us his annual visit for the purpose of picture-taking.

Mrs. Noel supervises Home-Ec. students as they display their talent in such things as dressmaking.

Students improve their knowledge of foreign language through the daily use of tape recorders.

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders decorate goal posts for the Friday night game.

The eleven Cheerleaders of Prince Edward Academy form a group of girls which has worked continuously to promote the school spirit not only in connection with athletics but in all school activities. It has been their duty to support our players at all football and basketball games. They also planned and carried out all activities that made our homecoming weekend a success.

CHEERLEADERS

Throughout the year the Cheerleaders, with the guidance of their sponsor, Mrs. Coleman, have worked hard to represent well our student body. Actually, however, their work began as early as summer when practice and preparation for the coming season began. Therefore, it is little wonder that this group has been successful in all they have endeavored to do.

Summer practice kept the girls hard at work and well in shape.

CAVALIER

THE CAVALIER, Prince Edward Academy's yearbook, has through the years attempted to give the students, alumnae and faculty a complete, picturesque review of each year's social, athletic, and academic activities. This year, just as in previous ones, the CAVALIER staff and its members have strived to present the main important activities that helped the students of our academy to build their futures.

S. C. A.

The leading organization of Prince Edward Academy is definitely the Student Cooperative Association.

This organization governs the activities of all other clubs and students. The S.C.A., as the governing body of our school, sets up standards which all students are expected to follow in order to maintain our Academy's reputation as an excellent school of the highest possible standards.

The District S.C.A. meeting, of which P.E.A. was host, was a definite success.

FOCUS

Prince Edward Academy's newspaper, THE FOCUS, published by academy students, presents the daily activities as well as the outstanding special functions of students, classes, and clubs of our school. THE FOCUS is definitely an excellent example and illustration of the worthwhile activities in which the students of Prince Edward Academy participates.

F. H. A.

F.H.A. float was first prize winner in Christmas parade.

HOMECOMING

The Queen and her Court happily reign among the large crowd of spectators at the Friday night game.

The Queen receives congratulations from tri-captain, Lamar Williams.

The Homecoming Court patiently waits to be presented.

The Cheerleaders' float was certainly a main attraction in the parade.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

Guest speaker for the banquet was Ralph Floyd of the University of South Carolina.

The 1961 Prince Edward Academy Football Banquet was held December nineteenth. This event marked the climax of the 1961 season. The players, cheerleaders, and guests were honored at the dinner. The guest speaker was Mr. Ralph Floyd of the University of South Carolina.

It was at this time that awards were given to the following players: Bill Wilson, Lamar Williams, and Bobby Gilmer-Sportsmanship awards; Bill Wilson-most valuable player award and the highest scholastic average; Paul Stimpson-Radio-Press award; and Leitch Lancaster-most improved player.

For the 1962 season tri-captains were announced as Archie Dunkley, Frankie Osborn, and Paul Stimpson.

Paul Stimpson proudly holds the Radio-Press award trophy.

Bill Wilson receives award certificates and congratulations from Coach Gilmer.

Gifts were given to Coach Gilmer and Assistant Coach Birdsong in appreciation for their never-ending efforts to make our team a winning one with highest standards of sportsmanship and character.

Mrs. Coleman was also presented a gift from the Cheerleaders as a symbol of their thanks for her cooperation and efforts in sponsoring a cheerleading squad which has represented and supported Prince Edward Academy.

Lamar Williams, Bill Wilson and Bobby Gilmer received Sportship awards.
